Obligations of the traveller

After a stay in a High-risk area | As of: 1/19/2022
Please check the website of the Federal Ministry of Health to inform yourself about current regulations.

Carry a test result, or proof of vaccination or recovery with you.

Upon entry, the test result may be no more than 48 hours old. In case of PCR tests, the actual time or scheduled time of carrier departure is decisive if you are entering Germany using a carrier. Further information can be found on the website of the Federal Ministry of Health.

Following a stay in a high-risk area, you are required in general to stay in quarantine for 10 days after entry into Germany.

You can end this quarantine by submitting a negative test result taken after five days at the earliest. Exemptions from the quarantine obligation exist, for instance, for persons who have been vaccinated or have recovered from infection. Further information can be found on the website of the Federal Ministry of Health.
You must transmit your test result, or proof of vaccination or recovery to the public health office. To transmit the file, please use the upload function at the end of the Digital Registration on Entry.
